The company's cloud program was featured within the prestigious guide for its ability to enable and support partners in the delivery of global hybrid networking, advanced security and cloud unified communication services to enterprise clients.

The CRN 2015 Cloud Computing Partner Program Guide provides a valuable resource for solution providers to navigate the booming cloud marketplace by identifying technology suppliers that offer innovative cloud solutions and partner programs. Masergy's award-winning Global Cloud Networking, Unified Communications as a Service (UCaaS) and Managed Security Services surpassed the "innovative cloud solutions" criteria and particularly impressed judges with partner benefits such as:

- Future-proof technology that ensures long-term customers
- Competitive compensation
- Industry's best client experience and support throughout the customer lifecycle

"Each cloud provider and vendor in the Cloud Partner Program Guide was selected by CRN editors for putting forth substantive cloud partner programs that demonstrate a real buy-in and support of the channel community," says Robert Faletra, CEO of The Channel Company. "With the pace of change and fierce competition in the growing cloud market, it's imperative that a solution provider finds vendor partners capable of giving them consistent, tangible support to grow their cloud-related revenue. The CRN 2015 Cloud Partner Program Guide helps them find those partners that are right for their business."

The Cloud Partner Program Guide will be featured in the October issue of CRN and can be viewed online at www.crn.com. By combining the Cloud Partner Program Guide with The Channel Company's upcoming NexGen Cloud Conference & Expo, solution providers have access to the most relevant and up-to-date information available to accelerate their cloud strategies and solutions.

"Our Global Partner Program gives channel members access to Masergy's patented technology and customizable solutions to enhance their business and ensure long-term clients," said Chuck Ward, VP of Masergy's Global Channel.
